Extracts from the Minimum Wages Act, 1948 and the Rules made there (whom the Act affects) under

Whom the Act affects

The Act applies to persons engaged on scheduled employments on specified class of work in respect of which minimum wages have been fixed. No employee can give up by contract or agreement his rights in so far as it purports to reduce the minimum rates of wages fixed under the Act.

Definition of Wages

‘Wages' means the remuneration payable to an employed person on the fulfilment of his contract of employment. It includes house rent allowance, but excludes—

(i) the value of any house-accommodation, supply of light, water, medical attendance;
(ii) any other amenity or any service excluded by general or special order of the appropriate Government;
(iii) any contribution paid by the employer to any Pension Fund or Provident Fund or under any scheme of Social Insurance;
(iv) any traveling allowance or the value of any traveling concession;
(v) any sum paid to the person employed to defray special expenses entailed on him by the nature of his employment;
(vi) any gratuity payable on discharge. The minimum rate of wages may consist of—

(i) a basic rate of wages and special allowance called the cost of living allowance;
(ii) a basic rate of wages with or without a cost of living allowance and the cash value of any concessions, like supplies of essential commodities at concession rates;
(iii) an all-inclusive rate comprising of basic wages, cost of living allowance and cash value of concession, if any.

The minimum wages payable to employees of scheduled employment notified under section 5 read with section 3 or as revised from time to time under the aforesaid sections may be—

(a) a minimum time rate;
(b) a minimum piece rate;
(c) a guaranteed time rate;
(d) an overtime rate;

differing with (a) different scheduled employments, (b) different classes of work, (c) different localities, (d) different wage-periods and (e) different age groups.

Computation and Conditions of Payment

The employer shall pay to every employee engaged in scheduled employment under him wages at a rate not less than the minimum rate of wages fixed for that class of employee.

The minimum wages payable under this Act shall be paid in cash unless the Government authorises payment thereof either wholly or partly in kind.

Wage periods shall be fixed for the payment of wages at intervals not exceeding one month.

Wage shall be paid on a working day within seven days of the end of the wage period or within ten days if 1000 or more persons are employed.

The wages of a person discharged shall be paid not later than the second working day after his discharge.

If an employee is employed on any day for a period less than the normal working day he shall be entitled to receive wages for a full normal working day, provided his failure to work is not caused by his unwillingness to work but by the omission of the employer to provide him with work for that period.

Where an employee does two or more classes of work to each of which a different minimum rate of wages is applicable, the employer shall pay to such employee in respect of the time respectively occupied in each such class of work wages at not less than the minimum rate in force in respect of each such class.

Where an employee is employed on piece work for which minimum time rate and not a minimum piece rate has been fixed, the employer shall pay to such employee wages at not less than the minimum time rate.
